IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION
OF ARIZONA WATER COMPANY, AN ARIZONA CORPORATION, FOR AN EXTENSION OF ITS CERTIFICATED
AREA FOR ITS SUPERSTITION SYSTEM

DOCKET NO. W-01445A-05-0701
POST-HEARING FILING CONCERNING
MISCELLANEOUS ISSUES

During the April 6, 2006 hearing in this matter, the presiding Administrative Law Judge Kinsey requested that Arizona Water Company (the "Company") submit, after the hearing, information concerning any water amenities, and whether water other than potable water could be used for such features, for Superstition Views, the development planned for the proposed certificated expansion area.

As a preliminary matter, the Company takes this opportunity to repeat what it has stated to the Commission many times in formal hearings and informal settings, that is, the Company strongly supports the use of reclaimed water in its service areas. To achieve this, the Company is working with, and will continue to work with municipal, other public, and private wastewater treatment providers to develop mutually agreeable arrangements for the Company to purchase reclaimed water and provide it to customers who have a need for it, such as golf courses, turf facilities, etc. The Company anticipates filing additional tariffs with the Commission as part of these efforts.

WATER AMENITIES

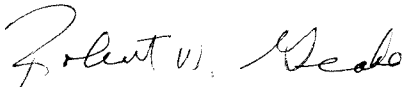

Superstition Views, to be located in the Gold Canyon area east of the City of Apache Junction, Arizona, plans to include 640 new dwelling units to be located in a single section of land identified in Exhibit 3 of the Company's application. The dwelling units will consist of a variety of buildings, including casita/town homes, single-family homes, and multi-family homes. The developer has informed the Company that it also plans to construct a golf course and lake that will be used, in part, to water the golf course.

USE OF RECLAIMED WATER

As the Company's witness, Michael Loggins, testified at the hearing, the developer has informed the Company that the wastewater treatment planned for the development is a "package" wastewater treatment system that will be designed and operated to handle the wastewater treatment demands of the development only. The developer has also informed the Company that it plans to discharge the effluent from the treatment plant to the lake near the golf course, where the developer, who also owns the golf course, plans to use all of the available effluent to water the golf course.

RESPECTFULLY SUBMITTED this 15th day of May, 2006.
